Speaking Independent Tasks 口语独立题➤ Task 1*[Question]

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement :

Students learning through videos is as effective as taking class in classroom.

Use specific examples and details to support your answer.

[Response]

I disagree with the point. I think that it's better to learn something by taking a class instead of just watching a video.

The first reason is that I think when you're learning through videos, it can be really easy to fall behind. For example, if you're learning something from a video and you don't understand a key concept, then the video is obviously not going to go back and teach it to you. However, if you're learning something in a classroom and you don't understand an important part of it, the teacher can go back and make sure you understand.

Secondly, having a good teacher in a classroom can help you care more about subjects that you're not already into. Last year I had a history class, and I can't stand history. But I had a good teacher and she made class very interesting for me.

[Question]

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

It is easier to become educated today than it is in past.

[Response]

Some people say that it's easier to become educated these days than it has been at any other time before. It's not easy to judge if this statement is true or not because we can only experience life in the present moment. Even so, I have to agree with the statement because I think education is absolutely more attainable now than it was in the past.

First off, the development of technology like the internet has made it so that anyone can learn about anything at any time. The internet is our open connection to the entire world and all of its knowledge, and it's the most valuable invention we have to become more educated, thus improving our lives and societies. I'm sure everyone has an example of valuable things they've learned online. For me personally, I learned everything about how to play guitar online. I never needed to go to a class because I could have more than enough information from the internet. Previous generations never had access to a powerful tool like the internet, so accessing information was far more difficult for them.

Furthermore, public education reaches more people now than at any time in human history. Centuries ago, education was only for the elite in society, like royal families. Eventually, education became available for most people in urban areas. Then education became more common throughout rural areas in wealthy countries, and now it has started to become more common even in the most rural areas of the poorest countries. The prevailing opinion today is that an educated population makes a better society, so people today are working hard to make sure everyone has access to an education. This is a relatively recent phenomena, and it clearly shows that it's easier to become educated these days than it previously was.

In the end, I think it would be hard to argue against these points. We are living in a time today where there is more education and we have easier access to that education than any time before.

这是作者的第一个观点，他觉得科技的发展做到了教育的普及因为任何人都可以在任何时间自学任何东西。第二句话是对自己的分论点进行了解释：互联网让我们联结了整个世界和所有知识，因而造福了我们的生活和社会。作者用自己学吉他的例子来佐证，并且前几代的人们对比，现在我们想要获取信息容易了许多。
